Studio Dessuant Bone is a multi-disciplinary design consultancy based in Paris, with our specialities in direction, design, product and interiors. Our research based creative solutions evolve from ideas and stories. We pride ourselves on creating an engaging and clear handwriting that can traverse across a diverse range of clients and industries, including fashion, lifestyle, creative & product, from concept to creation. Allaert Aluminium has been manufacturing metal and glass windows, doors, curtain walls and more in order to bring architecture to life since 1955. Over the years multiple materials have been integrated such as brass, steel, stainless steel, aluminium and glass. Though design languages have evolved and preferences for metal have been subject to changing thermal, acoustic or even legal circumstances, the aim for ultimate manufacturing has persisted. Engineering forces have joined the production and installation teams to take the whole process to another level, much appreciated by architects and general contractors, for it enables them to persist into the tiniest of details.

About the project

After the success of Perpetual Motion at Biennale Interieur 2016, Studio Dessuant Bone and Allaert Aluminium present the first in a new collection from their limited edition design range, A.D.B. - using core materials of glass and aluminium 'The Day Bed' is handmade in Kortrijk, Belgium. The collection combines the skill and know-how of over 60 years of production from Allaert Aluminium and the design language and aesthetic that is at the heart of Studio Dessuant Bone.
